Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: Applicant's representative pointed out differences between the present application and the cited references. Applicant's representative also mentioned that in the last remarks, it was argued that memory cells within the same row are often collectively referred to as a "page". The Examiner made a suggestion to amend the claims to include the limitation that a page refers to memory cells within the same row. Applicant's representative agreed to include this limitation. Upon receipt of the amendments, the Examiner will give the claims further consideration and perform an updated search.

INTERVIEW REQUEST FORM

Applicant's attorney requests a telephone interview with the examiner in regard to 10/773,266. The application has received a first non-final action after an RCE which is now due on Feb. 20, 2007 with a one-month extension of time. This is the third action in which the same rejection has been applied. Applicants believe that an interview will help in formulating a response to overcome the rejection and avoid the necessity for an appeal.

Applicants would be happy to receive any suggestions from the examiner to help overcome the rejection. Applicants also wish to point out differences over the cited references.

In regard to McGuinness, applicants believe that this arrangement is similar to that shown as prior art in Fig 2 of the present application. Applicants agree with the examiner that it does not show the memory page with two memory sections.

In regard to Vinekar, applicants believe that the arrangement of the data in the blocks differs from the present invention. In Vinekar, the columns are rearranged as rows and are arranged so as to be offset in adjacent columns. (See paragraph bridging cols 8 and 9). This allows consecutive data to occur along the diagonal. A data shuffler 410 is included for this purpose.

In the present application, consecutive even rows remain in the same order and likewise consecutive odd rows. Thus, the ordering of data is different in Vinekar. The independent claims refer to consecutive storage locations. Dependent claims 3, 11 and 14 further describe this concept. Applicants believe this concept is not shown in the references. However, applicants are willing to discuss language to emphasize this feature.

A telephone interview is requested for Monday Feb 12, 2007 at 2:00 pm. Applicant's representative is Robert F. Gnuse #27295; Birch Stewart, Kolasch and Birch; 703 205 8067.
